EIGHT-POINT BILL
AFFECTING ONLY
LOWER U. S. COURTS
IS BEING DRAFTED

Roosevelt Proposals to Remake Supreme Bench
Beaten; New Measure
Will Speed Up and Prescribe Procedure.

Garner and Administration
Men Turn to Work to Restore Shattered Harmony in Party—70 to 20
on the Showdown.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Senators who fought for five months over the Roosevelt bill to remake the Supreme Court joined amicably today in drafting an eight-point skeleton measure to speed up lower Federal courts. The new measure will not touch the Supreme Court.

They predicted that Congress, clamoring for adjournment, would enact it quickly. The bill will substitute for the administration proposal, which the Senate voted to stave yesterday, 70 to 20.

Thus ended the legislative "battle of a century." Opposition leaders called the Senate vote a complete rejection of President Roosevelt's proposal. The new measure will authorize increasing the number of lower court judges on the basis of need, rather than age, and will include certain procedural changes.

Brief appeal of constitutional case to the Supreme Court will be permitted, and the Attorney-General will be empowered to intervene in cases involving the Government. The Senate Judiciary Committee may take up to 10 days to write the substitute.

Eight Man Sub-Committee.
The committee today set about its work by forming an eight-man sub-committee to draft the bill. The committee unanimously agreed to expand the measure, if possible, to include regulation of bankruptcy and receivership fees.

Senator McCarran (D., Nevada), was named to head the sub-committee, which Chairman Ashurst (D., Arizona), said he hoped would submit a preliminary report by next Thursday. Others named were: Dietrich (D., Illinois); McGill (D., Kansas); Connally (D., Texas); Van Nuys (D., Indiana); O'Mahoney (D., Wyoming); Borah (Rep., Idaho), and Austin (Rep., Vermont).

Opponents of the original Roosevelt bill were given control of drafting the new measure. Six of the eight sub-committee members were opposed to the President's plan. Borah suggested expanding the bill, if possible, to cover receiverships.

McCarran called the sub-committee to begin work tomorrow. Ashurst said Attorney-General Cummings would be asked to operate.

Party Harmony Problem.
In the meantime, Vice-President Garner and other administration leaders set to work to mend party harmony, which Roosevelt's court proposal had shattered.

Roosevelt's views on the overwhelming Senate decision to shelve his bill were not disclosed.

Legislators noted, however, that Majority Leader Barkley and other administration stalwarts voted with the opponents to send it back to the committee.

The Senate ballot followed a meeting of the Judiciary Committee with Garner and Senator Wheeler (D., Montana), at which an agreement on procedure was reached.

Nearly every Senator was in the chamber, the scene a week ago of the funeral of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader. Curious House members crowded in the rear, and the galleries were jammed.

Senator Logan (D., Kentucky), whose name was on the administration compromise bill offered earlier in July, made the motion to sidetrack it.

Twenty die-hards voted no. Senator Norris of Nebraska, who was absent, was paired against recommission.

The 70 ayes included 53 Democrats, 15 Republicans, and 12 Independents. The noes were registered by 18 Democrats; the other Minnesota Farmer-Laborite, and La Follette (Pro-F.) Wisconsin.

Calm in His Defeat
Roosevelt Has Nothing to Say

WASHINGTON, July 23.—President Roosevelt is accepting with outward composure his complete defeat in his fight on the Supreme Court. He maintains that he has won some of his objectives and says responsibility for subsequent developments rests on Congress. These views were obtained at his press conference today, but he declined to be quoted.

The President, with an unflamed temper, greeted the reporters. There was no indication that he had been forced to surrender on the issue he had raised and which had split his party wide open.

Asked if he intended to press his "campaign" on the Supreme Court, he insisted that he had not made a campaign, that he had merely sent a message to Congress and that the Senate was still working on the proposal. When pressed for further comment, he said he could not talk for publication.

He did say he had not yet considered filling the Supreme Court vacancy left by retirement of Justice Van Devanter.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The Navy Department assigned Capt. Edwin A. Wolleson today to command the battleship Tennessee, which ran aground in San Francisco Bay on June 11.

Capt. John T. G. Stapler, the present commander, was sent to the Asiatic fleet. Stapler lost 10 numbers on the promotion list on recommendation of a general court martial called to investigate the grounding.

Lieutenant Commander H. H. Smith, navigating officer of the Tennessee at the time of the accident, lost 50 numbers on the promotion list. He was transferred to the transport Argonne as executive officer and will be succeeded on the Tennessee by Lieutenant Commander Lyman S. Perry, recently aid to the commandant of the Washington navy yard.

Minister of Education Says War

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, July 23.—The children of Madrid are going back to school this fall, in spite of the war. Jesus Hernandez, Minister of Education, said: "Ten thousand new schools already are functioning in loyal territory. There are more than 100,000 children in Madrid, belonging to families who refused to evacuate, and these will have schools—even if it is necessary to open them under the fire of enemy batteries. Zones will be sought farthest from the cannon. Children now are playing in the streets under Fascist fire, and in the same way can go to school."

By the Associated Press.

BOLOGNA, Italy, July 23.—Guglielmo Marconi was entombed today near the scene of his earliest experiments in wireless telegraphy. Three hundred thousand persons lined the streets of this university and industrial city to witness the funeral procession—from the railroad station to St. Petronius Cathedral and then to the Marconi family vault at a fourteenth century monastery just outside Bologna.

On the opposite side of the city, at Pontecchio, was the country home of Marconi's father, where 42 years ago the young Italian sent his first wireless signal. He died last Tuesday in Rome at the age of 63.

On arrival this morning from Rome, the body was turned over to Bologna authorities by Prince Colonna, Governor of Rome.

Squadrons of airplanes—symbol of the Fascist state—roared in salute over the hearse and its followers while the cortege moved toward the cathedral for the requiem mass.

Later the procession continued to the cemetery beside the old Carthusian charterhouse. Marconi's widow rode behind the hearse.

Posthumous Address.

After the interment, Marquis Luigi Solaro, president of the Marconi Co. and for many years a collaborator of the inventor, read over the radio a speech which Marconi had written and was to be read at the inauguration of the new radio station at Bologna.

"I confess," Marconi had written, "that when 42 years ago I succeeded in making the first radio transmission at Pontecchio, I foreseen the possibility of sending electric waves to great distances, but I did not hold hope of being able to obtain the great satisfaction which is being accorded to me today."

"In fact, a major defect then was attributed to my invention—that of possible interception of messages transmitted. This defect preoccupied me so much that for many years my principal researches were dedicated to its elimination."

"Nevertheless, this 'defect' was utilized after about 30 years and has become radio—that means of reception which daily reaches more than 40,000,000 listeners."

The posthumous address added that radio carried to the world the voice of Premier Mussolini who "tells other peoples of our country to work more thoroughly, work through peace and if necessary to the death."

Johnson Speaks Right Out.

It was Senator Johnson (Rep., California), who uttered the most trenchant words of the day. His further objections were drowned by a loud roar of the Vice-President's gavel. Then Senator Austin (Rep., Vermont), rose to inquire whether Senator Logan's motion contemplated "judicial reform" or reform of "judicial procedure."

Logan replied by reading his written statement from the committee, in which the phrase employed was "judicial reform."

Johnson's speech was directed at the Senate.

The Supreme Court is out of the way," Logan responded in loud, firm tones.

"Glory be to God!" exclaimed Johnson, and the galleries rang with applause, despite resounding blows from the Vice-President's gavel.

The agreement against "unanimous consent" by the minority led Senator, Senator McNary (Rep., Oregon), overruled the chair. Then Senator Austin (Rep., Vermont), rose to inquire whether Senator Logan's motion contemplated "judicial reform" or reform of "judicial procedure."

Logan replied it was the understanding of the committee that his motion should not include any mention of the Supreme Court.

Johnson, however, pressed on. "The Supreme Court is out of the way," Logan responded in loud, firm tones.

EVIDENCE REPUBLIC BOSS LED POLICE IN MASSILLON RAID

Steel Striker Testifies He Overheard Special Officer Say "We'll Clean Them Out Tonight."

TWO MEN KILLED IN SUBSEQUENT ATTACK

Company Paid for Bonds of Workers Commissioned as Policemen, Insurance Agent Says.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Evidence indicating that special policemen who fired into CIO headquarters in Massillon, O., the night of July 11, killing two steel strikers and wounding several others, were acting under the orders of a foreman of the Republic Steel Corporation, was laid before the National Labor Relations Board today. The Chicago Memorial Day "massacre," in which police killed 10 demonstrators and wounded more than 60, occurred outside the Republic plant in that city.

Following today's testimony the hearing was adjourned until Aug. 9.

Republic is the company headed by Tom Girdler. It operates plants in several parts of the country.

Non-Strikers. It was disclosed this afternoon that some non-striking employees of Republic were commissioned as special policemen, assigned to strike duty, in Massillon and Canton. The appointments were made by the mayors of those two cities.

This testimony was given by Thomas B. Smith, Canton insurance man, who told of furnishing the bonds for the appointees, only after Republic had signed an agreement indemnifying the bonding company against any loss suffered through the acts of the special officers.

Prior testimony had shown that special policemen participated in many acts of violence against strikers. It also pointed to close and constant co-operation between city officials and Republic Steel officers throughout the strike.

Smith said Republic paid for the bonds of 36 special policemen in Canton and 27 in Massillon.

Luther Day, counsel for the Republic, asked whether the men "were not a fine looking lot of men." Spectators laughed when Smith replied that "they were splendid physical specimens."

Striker's Story. John Veto, a striker, told the Labor Board today that, on the afternoon preceding the shooting in Massillon, he passed a group of policemen near CIO headquarters, one of whom was Bill Henderson, a Republic foreman who had been commissioned as a special city policeman. Veto said he overheard Henderson tell the others:

"We're going to clean them out tonight."

About 11 p.m., the witness continued, he was in the kitchen at CIO headquarters, when police and a private car drove up in front and immediately the shooting began. Bullets and gas grenades came through the windows, he said. One man was hit and fell across the ice box. It was more than an hour before the ambulance arrived.

John Angelo gave a graphic account of how special policemen and deputy sheriffs broke down the doors of a rooming house near CIO headquarters, three hours after the shooting, dragged 12 Republic strikers from their beds, and took them to jail. After being routed from their beds at the point of the officers' pistols, the men were lined up on the first floor of the rooming house, and given the following command:

"All of you who belong to the CIO, hold up your hands."

Angelo said he recognized the special policemen who gave this order as a Republic foreman known to him as "Bill."

Corroborative Testimony.

In addition to corroborating Angelo's testimony in detail, Christ Conzas, also a striker and an occupant of the rooming house, testified that the special officer who was giving orders and seemed to be in command was Henderson. Conzas, who formerly worked under Henderson, said to former striker told him: "You belong to the CIO and you'll have to go to jail."

Mark Turky, at whose home four striking steel workers roamed, told how two deputy sheriffs broke down the back door of his home shortly after midnight, the same night, and made a search ostensibly

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF PORTAGEVILLE MAN

John Peterson, St. Louis, and H. E. Woodmance, Dexter, indicted at Charleston.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHARLESTON, Mo., July 23.—John Peterson, 316 Laurel street, St. Louis, and H. E. Woodmance, manager of the Swift packing plant at Dexter, Mo., were indicted yesterday by a special Mississippi County grand jury, charged with the murder of O'Kelly Turner, 23 years old, of Portageville, a week ago last night.

Peterson, a salesman, arrested in St. Louis, was held to jail here with Woodmance. Sheriff Walter Beck questioned them after inquiring into the death of Turner, who was found lying unconscious on Highway 60 east of Charleston, and who died in a hospital at Cairo, Ill., of a skull fracture.

Sheriff A. F. Stanley of New Madrid County today said he had obtained a statement from Woodmance admitting knowledge of the circumstances of Turner's death, but placing chief blame on Peterson. Sheriff Stanley quoted Woodmance as saying that he and Peterson took Turner away from a Charleston dance hall in Woodmance's automobile. "To sober him up."

Woodmance said, according to Stanley, that he was driving, and that a fight occurred on the rear seat of the car. Peterson, he said, then asked him to stop the car, and dragged the unconscious form of Turner out, after which they drove away and left him on the pavement.

Sheriff Beck, who talked with Peterson, refused to say what the St. Louis prisoner had told him. Peterson is 51, Woodmance about 35.

STATE THE LOSER OF $50,000 BY ITS NO-BID BOND SALE

Securities Men Declare Profit Could Have Been Increased With Competitive Offers.

DEALERS' EARNINGS $29.10 ON $1000

It is Said by St. Louisans That $10 Return Would Have Been Enough for Handlers.

The State of Missouri, in its private sale of bonds this week to the Kansas City investment firm, Baum, Bernheim & Co., realized $50,000 less than the bonds would have brought at an open competitive sale, the Post-Dispatch was told today by St. Louis bond dealers.

L. A. Long, chairman of the Mississippi Valley group of the Investment Bankers' Association and vice-president of the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co., said the bonds were worth "at least $50,000 more" than the State got for them, and other bond dealers with whom the reporter talked placed the figure as high as $60,000.

The Kansas City firm paid a premium of 2.33 per cent for the bonds, and they are now being offered to the public at a premium of 2.24 per cent, a gross profit of 2.91 per cent, or $29.10 on a $1000 bond. St. Louis bond dealers are agreed that a fair profit for handling desirable short-term Missouri bonds such as those sold to the Kansas City firm would be $30,000.

On the $30,000 in bonds sold this week to the Kansas City firm, the dealers stand to realize a gross profit of $7.300, instead of the $30,000 which St. Louis dealers say would represent a fair profit. It is felt that the price paid was $57,300 "no low."

This third successive private sale of State bonds to the same Kansas City firm within the last 12 months. In all, St. Louis bond dealers say, the State got for the bonds $90,000 less than it would have received had the bonds been offered at public sale with competitive bidding.

Gov. Stark, it was learned, assured St. Louis bond dealers, in a letter to one of them last February, that there would be no private sales of State bonds during his administration.

State Treasurer R. W. Winn, about the same time, promised a St. Louis dealer, in a letter written in response to inquiry about the bonds, that they would be offered at public sale.

But the deal this week was made in the Governor's absence from the State on vacation, with Lieutenant Governor Frank G. Harris serving as Acting Governor and chairman of the Board of Fund Commissioners which negotiated the sale.

Other members of the board are State Auditor Forrest Smith, State Treasurer Winn, and Attorney General Roy McKittrick. State Auditor Smith arranged the meeting Tuesday evening at which the sale was negotiated. No public announcement was made until the next day.

Last of $10,000,000 Issue.

The sale dimension of the last block of the $10,000,000 bond issue authorized in May, 1934, for rehabilitation of State eleemosynary and penal institutions.

The first $2,000,000 of the bonds were sold at a public sale in September, 1934, at which six syndicates, representing most of the principal bond houses in the country, submitted offers. The bond market at that time was not so firm as it has been since and the premium paid was only 87 cents on a $1000 bond.

In March, 1935, Baum, Bernheim & Co. of Kansas City got $2,000,000 of the bonds at a private sale, paying a premium of $1 on a $1000 bond. The price was about $20,000 less than other bond firms said they would have paid had they had an opportunity to bid.

Another $2,000,000 of the bonds went to the Kansas City firm on the same terms last September, and again the price was about $20,000 less than other bond dealers said they were ready to pay.

The Investment Bankers' Association, disturbed by these private sales at which its members were not permitted to bid, sponsored a bill in the last session of the Legislature which would have required a public offering of all bonds offered in lots of more than $20,000. The bill died in the committee to which it was referred.

der of Dr. Davis by a man known only to him as "Nighthawk."

Kenyon's 60-year-old father testified that his son's mind was "dull," and that he didn't seem to "take to education." In an effort apparently, to hint at the existence of "Nighthawk," he said that two men had driven to his farm a few weeks before Dr. Davis was abducted. "They looked around and saw me and drove off," he said, leaving obscure the point of his "no low."

This third successive private sale of State bonds to the same Kansas City firm within the last 12 months. In all, St. Louis bond dealers say, the State got for the bonds $90,000 less than it would have received had the bonds been offered at public sale with competitive bidding.

Gov. Stark, it was learned, assured St. Louis bond dealers, in a letter to one of them last February, that there would be no private sales of State bonds during his administration.

The statement of the witness drew laughter from spectators, but members of the jury, most of them farmers, sat unsmiling.

Ollie Doughty, Willow Springs mechanic, testified he had seen Dr. Davis in an automobile with two strangers between 2 and 4 p. m. the day he disappeared. The State established by witnesses that the physician was at his office until after 5 p. m. Mrs. Welch, who asserted before the trial that she intended to marry Kenyon regardless of the outcome of his trial, also testified in his behalf but added little not already in evidence.

Witnesses Told of Confession.

In failing to take the witness stand, Kenyon left undisputed the testimony of an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and of Col. E. Marvin Castell of the State Highway Patrol, who told the jury that the farm hand had confessed he had abducted the physician and shot him to death in an effort to extort $5000 from the Davis family.

In his possession when he was arrested, after he had been observed mailing a ransom letter to Mrs. Davis, was an automatic pistol, proved by ballistic tests to have fired the bullet which killed Dr. Davis. Kenyon told them that he had refused to accept a $5000 check which the physician offered for his liberty. Investigators also found at his home two tablets with sheets bearing "indented writing," left by the pencil which inscribed the ransom notes, one of which was in Dr. Davis' own hand writing, the other on Kenyon's.

ST. LOUISANS USING LESS WATER THIS JULY THAN LAST

Consumption 16,400,000 Gallons a Day Below Average for Same Month in 1936.

St. Louisans are consuming 16,400,000 gallons less water each day than they did in July last year, reflecting the lower temperatures and more frequent rains.

The average daily water consumption since July 1 has been 153,200,000 gallons as contrasted with the daily average of 169,600,000 gallons in July 1936. Water Commissioner John B. Dear said today. The amount now being used is not abnormally low, he added, pointing out that the daily average consumption in June, 1935, was 132,600,000 gallons.

In June, 133,300,000 gallons a day was the average, 8,200,000 gallons less than the same month last year.

THEORY HIGHWAY MURDER VICTIM IS MISSOURI MAN

Body Answers Description of Ex-Marine, Who Was on Way Home After Discharge.

By the Associated Press.
FULTON, Mo., July 23.—Callaway County Prosecutor T. A. Faust said today he had received a telephoned description of Cameron Wayne Pebley of Oregon, Mo., which answers that of a man found shot to death near Kingdom City yesterday. The clothing of the dead man bore the initials "C. W. P." in several places.

Faust said Sheriff Louis F. Stalcup of Holt County notified him Pebley, 28 years old, was discharged from the Marine Corps July 1, and had been expected home soon by relatives.

The body was found in a clump of trees seven and one-half miles west of Kingdom City with five bullet holes in the head. It was covered with a blanket and straw.

N. R. Bullard, filling station operator at Kingdom City, said the man was one of two men who went to his station between 12 and 2 a. m. yesterday, bought five gallons of gasoline and new headlight bulbs and drove west.

Testimony of Auto.

Bullard said the dead man's companion drove the automobile in which the two were riding, which he described as a black 1930 Chevrolet roadster with wire wheels and New York license plates. He said the man later found dead paid for the purchases while his companion, driver of the car, went inside the station. Bullard said the driver of the car was of medium height, dark, and "fairly heavy set."

Prosecutor Faust said his information was that Pebley had been discharged from the Marines at Quantico, Va., and was making his way home by beggar rides. He requested that relatives immediately view the body held here. A newspaper description of the dead man attracted attention of friends of Pebley, he said.

A truck driver, Faust said, told him of seeing a black roadster parked in a gap in the fence near where the body was found, about 2 a. m. yesterday. The body was found at 7:30 a. m. by A. J. Adkins as he un hitched his team preparing to go to work in a nearby cornfield.

Three Bullets Removed.

Three .38-caliber bullets were removed from the victim's head.

Ground under the man's head was blood-soaked to a depth of five inches, and there was little blood on the straw or blanket covering the body, Faust said, indicating he "may have been shot as he lay asleep."

Citizens rushed out of their homes after an early morning earth shock that swayed several buildings but they paid little heed to later tremors.

The United States Weather Bureau said the shocks were more severe south of here along the highway, which was cracked in some places from four to 12 inches. The bureau said the disturbance was "greatest on record."

Earthshakes cut off about 20 families vacationing at Harding Lake, nearby resort, but all were thought to be unaffected by yesterday's shocks.

Black Rapids Glacier, movement of which has been accelerated in the past by earthquakes, is thought to have been unaffected by yesterday's shocks.

The most severe earthquake disturbance ever recorded in Alaska took place yesterday. For nine hours many shocks, four of them strong, occurred over the interior from Fairbanks, 300 miles south, to Anchorage.

Utility companies, banks and business houses carried on business as usual. A liquor store here failed to operate. The earth shocks toppled bottles off shelves and broke them. Telephone lines, broken during the first shocks, were hastily repaired.

The next visited the home of Mrs. Faye Ford, where he demanded the keys of an automobile in front of the house, frightening four women by displaying a revolver. None had the keys for the machine.

Constable Emil Schmoeller of Godfrey reported that he fired a shot at a man at 1:30 a. m. today when a stranger attempted to stop a taxicab in which a neighbor of Schmoeller had returned home.

Wagner, who is 21 years old, was known to Alton police as the result of several arrests for petty offenses in recent years. They had received a report that he had left a radio at a dealer's establishment in Alton the day before and that it had been identified as one taken from the Medora garage. An order for his arrest had been issued a short time before the shooting.

"The other man ran and I went toward the policeman whom I recognized as Patrolman Miller. I attempted to question him but he was unable to talk."

A .32-caliber pistol, which Abraham said Patrolman Miller had been firing, was found on the pavement. Its magazine was empty and eight discharged cartridges were found on the

ALTON POLICE HUNTING KILLER OF PATROLMAN

Search Made for Clyde M. Wagner, Who is Said to Have Told Friend, "I Just Shot Cop."

Alton police, investigating the killing of Patrolman Addis Miller, shot to death yesterday in front of the city hall by a man he apparently had arrested, today asked Missouri and Illinois authorities to search for Clyde M. Wagner of Alton, a former convict, for questioning.

A warrant for Wagner's arrest as a parole violator was obtained last night by Warden O. H. Lewis of the Pontiac Reformatory. Wagner was paroled last Aug. 23 after having served 18 months of an indeterminate sentence of 1 to 20 years for automobile theft in Madison County.

Faust said Sheriff Louis F. Stalcup of Holt County notified him Pebley, 28 years old, was discharged from the Marine Corps July 1, and had been expected home soon by relatives.

The body was found in a clump of trees seven and one-half miles west of Kingdom City with five bullet holes in the head. It was covered with a blanket and straw.

N. R. Bullard, filling station operator at Kingdom City, said the man was one of two men who went to his station between 12 and 2 a. m. yesterday, bought five gallons of gasoline and new headlight bulbs and drove west.

Testimony of Auto.

Bullard said the dead man's companion drove the automobile in which the two were riding, which he described as a black 1930 Chevrolet roadster with wire wheels and New York license plates. He said the man later found dead paid for the purchases while his companion, driver of the car, went inside the station. Bullard said the driver of the car was of medium height, dark, and "fairly heavy set."

A truck driver, Faust said, told him of seeing a black roadster parked in a gap in the fence near where the body was found, about 2 a. m. yesterday. The body was found at 7:30 a. m. by A. J. Adkins as he un hitched his team preparing to go to work in a nearby cornfield.

HOW PRESS VIEWS ROOSEVELT DEFEAT ON COURT SCHEME

Newspapers Say Senate's Action Shows People Represented Effort to Get Power Over Judiciary.

Following are excerpts from editorial comment throughout the country on the defeat of President Roosevelt's proposal to remake the Supreme Court:

New York Times — By the vote in the Senate yesterday, a great threat to the independence of the judiciary has now been set aside. It is on this threat that public attention has been focused naturally and properly, throughout the whole country, of the controversy over the court bill. With the proposal to change the Supreme Court definitely removed from the picture of the present session, for the plain reason that the administration did not have enough votes to put it through, the most important phase of the controversy has been closed, at least for the time being.

Washington Post — Widespread gratification over the Senate action yesterday springs from two sources. First and most important is the realization that the opponents of court packing have clinched decisive and complete victory. Second, the winning group has had the good judgment to turn its remarkable victory to constructive purposes. The group of senators now in control of the Senate is not satisfied to defeat the compromise court bill. Before the Senate terminated this historic controversy, its Judiciary Committee had decided to sponsor a genuine measure of judicial reform.

Boston Herald — The defeat of President Roosevelt has been due mainly to the free play of public opinion. The immediate and instinctive reaction of the people in February was hostile. It was not confined to old-line Democrats or reactionary Republicans. It came from the press and public, from farmers and industrial workers. It was intense in the rank and file of his own party. The very men who were most anxious to have him elected — Senator Clark of Missouri, for instance — became most eager to check him in a movement which they believed would cheapen and degrade the Supreme Court. . . . It has taken less than six months for the voters of the United States to demonstrate that this is still a Government of, for and by the people. Democracy is again triumphant.

New York Daily News — The Senate voted, 70 to 20, yesterday afternoon to recommit the President's court reform bill, meaning the bill is done for; and old dealers were chortling over the President's "defeat." We'd like to be "defeated" that way some time. The President first attacked the Su-

Original Court Bill, Substitute And the New Program

WASHINGTON, July 23. — HERE are the principal differences between the Roosevelt administration's original bill to remake the Supreme Court and the "eight-point program of judicial reform" substituted by opposition Senate leaders:

The President's first bill called for:

1. A permanent increase in the size of the Supreme Court, through appointment of not more than six new Justices to supplement incumbents who did not retire at 70.
2. An increase in the number of lower court judges on the same basis, provided that total appointments to all courts should not exceed 50.
3. Assignment of the new lower court judges, by the Chief Justice, to help out in courts which fell behind with their work.
4. Appointment of a proctor by the Supreme Court to investigate the need of lower courts for additional judges and to recommend their assignment.
5. Intervention of the Attorney-General in any lower court case involving a constitutional question.
6. Direct appeal of constitutional questions from Federal District Courts to the Supreme Courts of Appeal.

This ran into such strenuous opposition that a substitution was made in the form of the Logan-Hatch amendment.

This compromise would have limited new Supreme Court appointments to one a year and provided for speedier appeals on constitutional questions.

The new "eight-point program" calls for:

1. No change in the Supreme Court.
2. No proctor to assist the Supreme Court in relieving congestion in lower tribunals.
3. No "roving judges" to be assigned to lower courts by the Chief Justice and proctor.
4. Assignment of lower court judges, by the senior Circuit Judge of each judicial circuit.
5. Appointment of additional lower court judges on a basis of need, not age.
6. Direct appeal of constitutional questions from Federal District Courts to the Supreme Courts of Appeal.

7. Intervention of the Attorney-General in any lower court case involving a constitutional question.

8. Decision of constitutional issues in lower courts by a three-judge tribunal.

Supreme Court last Feb. 5. Since that time, the court has reversed its majority opposition to the New Deal; Van Devanter's resignation, probably hastened by this fight, has given the President one appointment; two more resignations (Brandeis and Sutherland) are expected within a year; and the Senate compromise negotiators have agreed to push the bulk of the President's minor Federal court reforms — as important in their way as yesterday's court fight developments. There will be a court bill, but it will contain very little the administration wants. It is very little wool for the amount of cry the administration has made and the whole situation involves a confession of defeat by the New Deal. But the fact that Cactus Jack had to be brought back from Uvalde to get this much, coupled with the fact that when back he got a solution of the difficulties in a few minutes, installs him as a very powerful personage in Washington.

San Francisco Chronicle — We have been seeing history made, these last few swift-moving days, at a speed almost too rapid to follow. But time will not expunge these quick strokes from its record. The generations will read in these fast-dashed lines the lesson that the President, to whom the people had intrusted the most nearly absolute power, even known, had that power snatched from his hands by a revolt rising up in the people and culminating in his desertion by his own party. The Vice-Presidential running mates, sided with the President. Senator Norris of Nebraska, an old independent ally of Mr. Roosevelt, May 5, testified the officer arrested him when he refused to pay the amount of damages asked for. McGinnis denied he had been drinking and said he was on his way to his home at 7727 Arthur avenue, Richmond Heights, when the accident occurred.

The testimony of two witnesses, one a cousin of Cunningham, that McGinnis was uninvolved was offset by that of Dr. Edward N. Snyder, 3550 North Newstead avenue, who said he examined McGinnis immediately after the latter's release. Cunningham denied the quarrel over damages. Assistant City Counselor Martin P. Hart said he would appeal to the Court of Criminal Correction for a rehearing.

It is the Associated Press.

Washington, July 23. — The shelving of President Roosevelt's proposal to remake the Supreme Court climaxed one of the greatest political struggles, since the fight over slavery.

The Senate became the battleground because all hands agreed it was there the legislation faced its greatest test. Many House members said there was no use of going on record if the bill was destined to be killed by the other chamber. Apparently undaunted by the obstacles to his proposal, Mr. Roosevelt, at a Democratic victory dinner on March 4, urged action "now" to overcome Supreme Court "vetoes" of New Deal programs.

Again, on March 9, he discussed the issue with the country in a broadcast address.

"We must take action to save the Constitution from the court," he said on that occasion.

Political Hearings on Bill.

Attorney-General Cummings was the first administration witness at public hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee. He said that Congress should permit the President to appoint new Justices of "fresh outlook" who would not infringe on congressional powers.

Senator Wheeler, who by this time had assumed leadership of the opposition, read to the Judiciary Committee a letter from Chief Justice Hughes. An increase in the number of Supreme Court Justices, Hughes said, "would not promote the efficiency of the court."

Opponents made increasing demands for abandonment of Supreme Court reorganization after the tribunal, on April 12, upheld the Wagner Labor Relations Act by a 5-to-4 decision.

When Justice Willis Van Devanter, a consistent critic of New Deal enactments, announced his retirement on May 18, the opponents argued there was no longer any possible need for the President's bill. On that same day, the Senate Judiciary Committee, having completed its long public hearings, voted 10 to 8, to recommend rejection of the legislation.

Then the Supreme Court upheld the Social Security Act and the Judiciary Committee reported formally to the Senate that the bill represented "a needless, futile and utterly dangerous abandonment of constitutional principle."

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, afterward informed the President privately that the method of judiciary reorganization

JURY ACQUITS ATTORNEY ON TWO DRIVING CHARGES

H. C. McGINNIS says Officer Who Car He Hit Arrested Him After Dispute Over Damages.

H. CLAIR McGinnis, an attorney, was acquitted on charges of driving when intoxicated and careless driving in a jury trial yesterday before Police Judge Edward M. Ruddy.

McGinnis, who backed into the parked automobile of Patrolman Cletus Cunningham in front of Cunningham's home at 5453A Magnolia avenue, May 5, testified the officer arrested him when he refused to pay the amount of damages asked for. McGinnis denied he had been drinking and said he was on his way to his home at 7727 Arthur avenue, Richmond Heights, when the accident occurred.

The testimony of two witnesses, one a cousin of Cunningham, that McGinnis was uninvolved was offset by that of Dr. Edward N. Snyder, 3550 North Newstead avenue, who said he examined McGinnis immediately after the latter's release.

Proposed in Surprise Message Feb. 5, His Measure Immediately Encountered Opposition, Much of It From His Friends.

He had proposed would have to be altered to win congressional approval.

Compromise Proposed July 2.

On July 2, administration forces in the Senate proposed a compromise bill to authorize the appointment of one additional Justice each calendar year if incumbents past 75 did not retire. Had this been enacted, the President could have made the three appointments to the court by next Jan. 1 — one to fill the vacancy caused by Justice Van Devanter's retirement, another for this calendar year.

BURKE AND ROOSEVELT IN 'FRIENDLY' FARLEY

Garner Brings Anti-Court Bill Senator and President Together.

It is the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 23. — Vice-President Garner's efforts to reconcile Democratic factions that split in the Supreme Court controversy resulted today in a friendly conference between President Roosevelt and Senator Burke of Nebraska at the White House today. Burke was one of the leading opponents of the President's bill.

Garner was reported authoritatively to have arranged the conference — the first Burke has had with Roosevelt since early in the controversy. Afterward, Burke said he had a "friendly" visit with the President, and reported to him on efforts of the Judiciary Committee to work out a new bill.

He said he was "glad to have discussed with the President what the Judiciary Committee is starting to do to accomplish as many objectives outlined by the President as is possible under the limitations now imposed."

"It was a friendly and very interesting conference," Burke added.

The Senator, who during the bitter conflict over the court constantly talked of the danger of a permanent split in the Democratic party, said he was now hopeful the party breach would be healed. He would not quote the President, but he said there was no indication that Roosevelt had any desire other than to heal the party wounds.

The Senate began bitter debate in the compromise bill in July 5, when Senator Robinson, a darling of the administration, attempted a filibuster by invoking drastic rules to prevent them from taking the bill to death.

Wheeler accused the administration in turn of using "cheap" tactics.

Revolt against the legislation spread to the House on July 13, when Chairman Summers of the Judiciary Committee came out against it.

TELLS OF LOYALTY CAMPAIGN IN SHOE PLANT AT UNION

Witness at Hamilton-Brown Hearing Says He Enlisted
Employees to Fight
CIO Affiliate.

MEETING EVICTED RIVAL LEADERS

Labor Board to Complete
Its Evidence Today —
Company to Offer Testimony for Three Days.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNION, Mo., July 23 — With only three or four more witnesses to testify in the National Labor Relations Board inquiry into labor practices at the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. plant here, the board attorney said presentation of the case would be completed this afternoon.

Trial Examiner William Seagle announced that the hearing would adjourn over the week-end to give the company an opportunity to prepare its defense. Luke E. Hart of St. Louis, president of the company, said he would require at least three days to offer testimony in refutation of that of almost 100 witnesses who have testified for the board. The hearing began July 8.

Witness Recalled.

Lady Niebruegge, 24 years old, a plant employee, who yesterday assumed complete responsibility for the origin of "loyalty" cards and solicitation of members for an alleged company union at the factory at a time when he was not employed there, was recalled to the stand today.

He testified that he left Union
"under fire" in 1935 when a shortage was discovered in his accounts as City Collector. The shortage was refunded and he was not threatened with criminal action, he said.

Yesterday Niebruegge testified that as an interested citizen he enlisted the aid of loyal employees to combat the organization of Local 125 of the United Shoe Workers of America, a CIO affiliate. He went to work in the sole leather department of the plant July 1, he said, several months after he was active in the loyalty campaign.

He told also of persuading A. A.
Steinback, editor of the Franklin County Tribune, to aid in the enterprise.

Stipled Court Decision.
Niebruegge said that he had analyzed the recent United States Circuit Court of Appeals decision in the Delaware-New Jersey Ferry Co. case and had applied it to the situation at Hambro plant. The decision, in effect, reversed a N. L. R. B. order applying to a so-called company union.

"You saw it as a perfectly beautiful way of defeating the complaint against the Hamilton-Brown Shoe
Co., didn't you?" asked David C.
Shaw, board attorney. The witness smiled and said "yes."

Niebruegge said he discussed the

MISSING JUDGE CRATER'S WIFE DECLARES SHE HAS NO STORY

Will See Anyone from Prosecutor's Office, But Won't Go to New York.

By the Associated Press
BELGRADE LAKES, Me., July 23—Contending "there isn't any story to tell," Mrs. Stella M. Crater said today she had no intention of going to New York to tell District Attorney William C. Dodge about the disappearance of her husband,
former New York Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater, seven years ago.

Dodge said in New York yesterday
he had written to Mrs. Crater inviting her to tell "the entire story," saying he would send an assistant to her cottage here to question her if she found it inconvenient to visit New York. She said she had not received the letter, but would "see anyone who wants to come down here from the District Attorney's office."

"The questioning of me doesn't mean anything now," Mrs. Crater said. "If I had had any story, I certainly would have told it long ago. I am waiting now for the investigating authorities to tell me something about the disappearance of my husband."

CIO Leaders Evicted.
Niebruegge said he arranged a meeting June 24 at which Mayor
Jenny, Superintendent Cole and Judge of the Peoria Bredl sprang to his aid. He said he caused leaders of the CIO local and their attorney, George Duemler, St. Louis, to be evicted. Jenny, he said, was to discuss the Labor Act and the right to organize; Bredl to tell of the damaging effects of the CIO on industry and Cole to give workers confidence.

The witness said he spoke at the meeting, forecasting that all would be settled, "before the sun sets twice." He asserted that he persuaded the editor to anticipate the closed shop agreement, which was reached June 25, and prepare to issue an "extra" edition, thought to be the first in the paper's history.

WAGE-HOUR BILL TO COME UP NEXT WEEK IN SENATE

With Adjournment Talked of for Aug. 7 or 15,
Congress' Program Is Indefinite.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 23—Administration leaders put the wage and hour bill at the top of a Congressional program today and Majority Leader Barkley said the Senate would debate it next week.

As modified by the Labor Committee, it would set a board to fix minimum wages up to 40 cents an hour and a 40-hour maximum work week. Products made by children under 16 would be barred in interstate commerce.

The House Labor Committee has yet to approve a wage and hour bill but it was predicted the House would enact one before adjournment.

Aside from that proposal and the substitute bill to speed up lower Federal courts, the administration's program was indefinite. Leaders expect to canvass the legislative situation with President Roosevelt to learn which measures he wants considered.

Adjournment in August Likely.

After that conference, they may set a tentative date for adjournment. The consensus of several prominent legislators was that Congress would quit between Aug. 7 and 15.

Then they agreed, might mean deferring until next year other administration proposals, such as Government reorganization and crop control.

Senator Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, new chairman of the Senate Reorganization Committee, said long hearings would have to be held on that measure. He was noncommittal about its prospects. Others predicted approval of only one phase of the reorganization program—creation of six $10,000-a-year assistants for the President.

Neither House nor Senate Committee has done anything with the crop control and "ever-normal granary" program advocated by Secretary Wallace. Members of the House Committee said it would take them at least a month to get it in shape. Some members of the Senate Committee, however, said a powerful campaign for its passage was developing "back home."

"Ever-Normal" Granary.

Speaker Bankhead expressed belief that Congress should enact before adjournment the "ever-normal" granary and crop control.

"Unless we do something about the farm situation, we'll be censured," he told reporters.

The Speaker made this statement after discussing the legislation with Edward T. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. O'Neal is urging enactment of a measure that would provide compulsory crop control by means of marketing quota system and heavy penalty taxes.

Bankhead said action on such legislation this session probably would depend on outcome of a conference of Senate, House and administration leaders probably Monday.

"There is no doubt," the Speaker said, "what's going to happen to farm prices, unless we enact control legislation, prices are going to go down and we'll have another farm depression."

The House Agriculture Committee had under consideration today a bill introduced by Chairman Jones (Dem.), Texas, providing for the granary and voluntary crop control.

Tax Litigation About Ready.

The President was expected to ask for passage before adjournment of a bill to plug tax loopholes. The joint Congressional Committee has it about ready. Some House leaders said the bill could be held until next session because it would not be needed until shortly before the March 15 income tax deadline.

The Senate may take up the Wagner housing bill after voting on the wage and hour measure. The Labor Committee met today to give final approval. As revised to meet Treasury objections, it would authorize loans to state and local housing authorities for construction of low-rent housing projects. Grants either as annual payment or lump sum also would be permitted. A $700,000,000 bond issue is proposed.

House leaders said there was little chance of enactment of the Norris bill to set up seven "little T V A's" for flood control, conservation and power programs.

Granite City Power Hearing.

prejudice his client's case, an amazing performance."

"I know he has tried to throw insults at this jury," Hutson declared. "The trouble is his speech was not made to the jury. It was made to the press. I ask you gentlemen to disregard the prejudice
Mr. Leibowitz has tried to arouse in studying this case."

Charges of Perjury.

Perjury charges were made by the defense yesterday against the testimony of Mrs. Victoria Price, accuser of the nine defendants, and a witness testified that the young white woman once told him she was not criminally attacked.

After Leibowitz had moved for exclusion of testimony by Mrs. Price, the star State witness, on the ground her statements were "perjured," he placed Lester Carter on the stand.

Carter said he was a hobo on the freight train aboard which the State condemns Mrs. Price and Ruby Bates were assaulted by a band of Negroes on March 25, 1931, near Scottsboro, Ala.

"There was no rape," Carter said.
Mrs. Price told him in Scottsboro jail after the train was stopped by a posse at Paint Rock, Ala. Mrs.
Price asked him to support her attack story to prevent "trouble over riding a train," Carter testified.

When Leibowitz took over cross-examination of Mrs. Price, after she identified Weems as one of those who she said assaulted her, Judge W. W. Callahan said to the lawyer:

"It's not too late for me to enforce orders of this court, and I am warning you now your mannerism is going to lead to trouble and you might as well get ready for it."

In the midst of the lawyer's plea to exclude Mrs. Price's testimony, Judge Callahan interrupted and overruled the motion.

"I don't see any occasion for a grand stand play like that," Judge Callahan said.

"The evidence is so rampant it (the testimony) is filled with perjury," Leibowitz charged.

Earlier, the State waived capital punishment in the case of Weems. A precedent of death marks for all the nine defendants week in suggesting to 50 to 75 years' imprisonment for Andy Wright.

DETACUR, Ala., July 23.—Closing arguments to the jury were made today in the trial of Charlie Weems, one of the nine Negroes in the Scottsboro case.

Marvin Hutton, speaking for the state, said Samuel Leibowitz, defense counsel, "has apparently tried to prejudice his client's case, an amazing performance."

"I know he has tried to throw insults at this jury," Hutton declared. "The trouble is his speech was not made to the jury. It was made to the press. I ask you gentlemen to disregard the prejudice Mr. Leibowitz has tried to arouse in studying this case."

"It's headlines in the newspapers that have caused all this trouble down here. It's not the purpose of this court to play for publicity. It's the purpose of this court to give these Negroes justice."

JEWS HIT BY NEW NAZI TAX FOR NON-MILITARY CITIZENS

Income Levy Against Such Subjects
Increased 50 Per Cent Beginning Next Month.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 23.—A new tax on German subjects exempt from military service and likely to hit Jews most heavily becomes effective Sept. 1. The tax will add 50 per cent to the present income tax for the first two years a German normally would fulfill military obligations. It applies to males born in or since 1914.

Jews are disqualified from service and so must pay the tax. Men who pay no income tax will be required to pay a minimum military tax of 4 per cent of their wages for two years.

Those subject to the 50 per cent tax increase on income for the two years, thereafter must pay a six per cent tax annually until they reach 45—about 25 years for most of the estimated 350,000 youths who first will be affected. They were rejected from training classes of 1914, 1915, 1916. The annual tax is graduated downward for persons with small income.

The main objective, officials said, is to penalize men who continue making money while their colleagues serve their military training periods.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 23.—The Tennessee Parole Board announced last night that it would parole Joseph I. Reece, former State Revenue Commissioner, who has served more than two years of a three-to-ten year sentence on a charge of taking $100,000 worth of bonds held by his department. He was convicted March 22, 1934, of grand larceny and entered prison July 6, 1935. When the State Supreme Court affirmed his conviction, Reece failed to appear. He was arrested a short time later in Tampa, Fla.

THREE BROTHERS KILLED ON ADJOINING FARMS

Neighbor, Who Is Said to Have Shot Them, Sought Boy Wounded.

By the Associated Press.
AUSTIN, Minn., July 23.—Three brothers were killed and a 12-year-old son of one was seriously wounded yesterday when they were shot while working in grain fields on their adjoining farms southeast of here.

The dead: Louis, Joe and Anton Lukes Jr. The injured boy, Faye, was the son of Louis.

Sheriff Helmer Myre said he was seeking Jens Thompson, 33, neighbor of the Lukes, who the Sheriff said was in an automobile after shooting each man in the head and the boy in the body.

Sheriff Myre said Thompson, who was to have started work yesterday for Louis Lukes, first went to the home of the father, Anton Sr., found him not at home and then drove to a field where Joe was working. There, the Sheriff said Thompson stepped from his car and fired a rifle, killing Joe Lukes.

From there, the Sheriff said, the son drove half a mile to where Louis and his brother, Anton, a neighbor, Eddie Pell, and

BOY BURGLARS CAUGHT AT ALDERMAN'S HOME

Surprised in Attempt to Break Into Herman Barken's Apartment, University City.

James Hedley, Aplastic Anemia Sufferer, Also to Have All of Teeth Removed.

James Hedley, victim of aplastic anemia, is at Barnes Hospital, awaiting his seventy-sixth blood transfusion in three and a half years and the extraction of all his teeth. The failure of red-blood cells to form in his bone marrow has resulted in loosening of his teeth, since the bones are no longer able to hold them in place.

The disease is thought to be due to a possible lack of a hormone in the body. It began with a nasal hemorrhage. Hedley, now 25 years old, has been kept alive by blood furnished free by 50 donors. A truck driver by occupation, Hedley is only able to work part time, since his strength lessens shortly after a transfusion.

He is 5 feet, 9 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. After a transfusion, his physician said, he appears to be quite healthy and vigorous, but then when the effects wear off he becomes pale and weak.

EX-DEAN THREATENED HIM, WITNESS SAYS

Thomas E. Elder Had Shotgun Jury Is Told at Greenfield, Mass.

By the Associated Press.

GREENFIELD, Mass., July 23.—Stephen Allen Norton, former cashier at Mount Hermon school, today named Thomas E. Elder as the man who threatened him with a shotgun at his Greenfield home on May 25.

Elder, former dean at Mount Hermon, went on trial yesterday before a jury on charges of assault with intent to kill his former colleague and of assault on Norton, "putting him in fear of bodily harm."

Norton told of returning to his home on the night of the alleged crime in company with his wife.

"I slipped out of my car," he said, "turned and saw a man standing on the cement apron of the garage. The man said: 'Mr. Norton, I want to talk to you.'

"Instantly, I recognized him. The man next uttered was 'get back in that corner.'

"I continued to advance toward him, because I saw nothing to be afraid of at that time. Then he opened his coat and brought up a gun. It put me in terror of my life."

"I dashed to the garage door, plunged into the vestibule, then jumped into the kitchen."

"Who was that man with a gun at the garage?" Norton was asked. "He was Thomas Elder," he replied.

Norton and Elder both were members of the school staff on the night, three years ago, when its young headmaster, Dr. Elliott Speer, was shot to death as he reached for a book in his study. A shotgun blast, fired close to a window, killed him. The Speer killing never has been solved.

Now a poultry farmer in Alton, N. H., Elder smiled occasionally during the testimony.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Charles R. Fairhurst, Norton said the muzzle of the gun "was about 'as big as a pencil.'

"Is there feeling at all, Mr. Norton, between you and Mr. Elder?" Fairhurst asked.

"We had differences in matters of school management," Norton replied and said the differences had been going on 10 or 12 years.

"I reported a certain incident about him (Elder) to Dr. Cutler," testified Norton. "It might have been called a complaint."

Dr. Henry Cutler was the headmaster at the school at the time.

"Was this complaint something you spied on Mr. Elder to get?" "Yes."

"What was it you reported?" "I reported seeing him kiss his stenographer and he and his stenographer in each other's embrace."

He told the jury he "only had to look once" through the hole he said he bored through the partition separating his office and that of the dean.

He identified the girl he said he saw Elder kiss as a Miss Dill, once employed at the Northfield school.

Later, Norton continued, he, Dr. Cutler, Elder and Mrs. Elder "knelt in prayer" to ask for God's forgiveness for the incident.

20,000 Workers in New York and New Jersey Affected.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 23.—A code for the millinery industry of this area was completed yesterday when officials and workers representatives signed a pact of fair trade practices in the presence of Mayor F. H. La Guardia.

About 80 employers and 20,000 workers in New York and New Jersey are covered by the agreement drawn at the suggestion of the Mayor and with the aid of Paul F. Brissenden, professor of economics at Columbia University. The code sets up a policing agent, and hats will carry a label, similar to the old NRA labels, for manufacture under the code.

DETROIT, Mich., July 23.—National Labor Relations Board attorneys, cross-examining a Ford Motor Co. witness, sought today to contradict his testimony he was with Harry Bennett, Ford personnel director, for more than three hours on the day CIO organizers were beaten at the gates of Ford's Dearborn plant.

Two Spent Three Weeks Climbing 17,150-Foot Peak

Conquerors of Mount Lucania Tell of Struggle in Below-Zero Weather—Obtained Photographic Record.

By the Associated Press.

VALDEZ, Alaska, July 23.—A tiny flag of the National Geographic Society fluttered today on the 17,150-foot peak of snowcapped Mount Lucania in Southeastern Alaska to mark man's conquest of what until July 9 was the highest unclimbed peak in North America.

The conquerors, Bradford Washburn Jr., of Cambridge, Mass., and Robert H. Bates of Philadelphia, arrived here yesterday to tell of three weeks spent in inching their way upward through unrelenting snow and below-zero temperatures.

Photographic Record of Climb.
They brought back a complete photographic record of the climb for the Harvard Institute of Geographical Exploration, which sponsored the expedition.

From the base camp upward, weather set new obstacles daily in their path, Washburn said. First the Walsh Glacier, the landing field for their plane, cracked so badly they were unable to fly in two other members of their party, Russell Dow of Woodsville, N. H., and Nor-climbed on to a tiny shelf of snow-covered ice and became the first men to see the summit of Lucania.

"The view from the summit," said Washburn, "is superb beyond description. To the east lies Canada buried beneath a tossing sea of magnificent thunder storms. To the west, south and north stretched a jagged endless mass of brilliant snowclad peaks."

PUMPING OUT OIL IN EFFORT TO FREE GROUNDED CRUISER

Seamen to Remove 400 Tons of Material From the Omaha in Bahamas.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Four hundred tons of oil were being pumped from the light cruiser Omaha today in an effort to float the vessel which is aground at Castle Island Light in the Bahamas.

Capt. Howard B. McCleary, the ship's commander, reported that assisting navy vessels had moved the Omaha three feet astern, but had been unable to pull it clear.

An examination, the commander said, disclosed the ship's bottom had been slightly damaged when it became grounded last Monday.

N.B.A. RANKS BILLY BEAUHULD FIFTH IN LIGHTWEIGHT CLASS

SCHMELING IS RATED AS NO. 1
CONTENDER FOR
LOUIS' CROWN

Committee Decree German Deserves Title Shot Within Six Months—Former Champion Braddock Third in Heavyweight Division.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The championship ratings committee of the National Boxing Association recognized Max Schmeling today as the No. 1 contender for the heavyweight championship held by Joe Louis and ranked Billy Beauhuld of St. Louis fifth in the lightweight division.

The committee said "pure sportsmanship" decreed a title shot for Schmeling within six months. It said it would recommend that the N. B. A. declare the title vacant unless the German boxer gets this opportunity against the Detroit News.

Schmeling defeated Louis before the latter won the title from Jim Braddock. Schmeling's managers contend Braddock "ran out" on them in fighting Louis instead of their man.

In All Divisions.

The committee made public ratings in all weights, based on performances of the last three months.

The heavyweight ratings in order:

Louis, Schmeling, Braddock, Bob Pastor of New York, Alberto Lovell of Argentina, Tommy Farr of England, Al McCoy of Boston, Nathan Mann of New York, Al Ettore of Philadelphia, Arturo Godey of Chile, and Bob Nestell of Los Angeles.

Middleweights—Teddy Yaroc of Pittsburgh, Fred Apostoli of San Francisco, Ken Overlin of Richmond, Va.; Al Hostal of Seattle, Wash.; Lou Brouillard of Worcester, Mass.; Young Corbett III of Fresno, Cal.; Ron Richards of Australia, Babs Riske of Syracuse, and Walter Woods of New York City.

Welterweights—Cefinor Garcia of the Philippines Islands, Jack Carroll of Australia, Jimmie Lester of New Haven, Fritz Zivie of Pittsburgh, Izzy Janazzo of New York, Holmes Williams of Pittsburgh, Johnny Lucas of Camden, Coco Kid of Puerto Rico, and Milt Aaron of Chicago.

WRESTLING RESULTS

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Jack Dempsey, boxing's "good will ambassador," was due here today from Salt Lake City to look after several matters, chief of which is the triple All-Star fight card at Gilmore Stadium Monday night.

The ex-champion is slated to referee one of the bouts, a 10-round bout between Pedro Montanez, Puerto Rico, and Wesley Ramsey, Grand Rapids, Mich., lightweight.

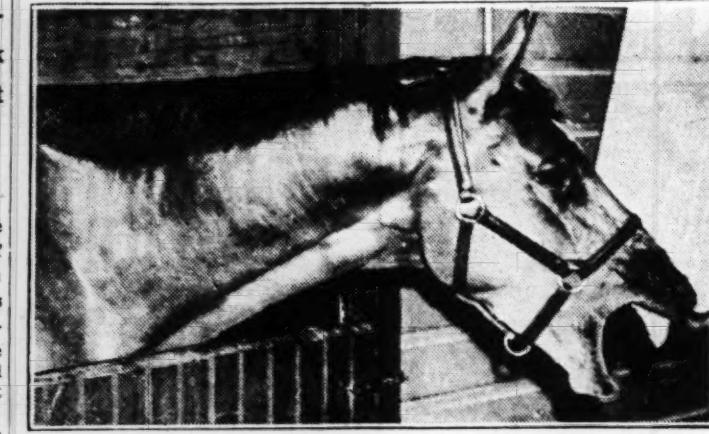

Dempsey had added interest in the appearance of his own heavyweight, Red Burnett of Baltimore, who fights Alberto Lovell of Argentina in another 10-round.

Pompoon's Day Arrives.

ISTORY may repeat in the turf world. Discovery was a great race horse, but the best he could do was run second, until Cavalcade was injured; then he became famous. Pompoon, a truly great three-year-old, has not been able to do much but chase War Admiral home, thus far; but with the son of Man O' War out, Pompoon's day is about to arrive.

"He Laughs Best Who Laughs Last," seems to be Pompoon's idea about the three-year-old championship situation.

The horse that ran War Admiral to a close finish in the Preakness will start in the Classic Stakes after weeks of retirement due to illness, and War Admiral will not face the starter. Apparently that leaves Pompoon at the head of the three-year-old brigade. On his form in the Preakness, the Derby and other races this year, he ought to hold all rivals safe.

There have been stories from Saratoga, where he was prepared, that his trouble was the same that laid Cavalcade low—bad hoofs. But that, apparently, is discounted by his last workout at Arlington in which he went the mile and one-quarter route in 2:07.25, eased up through the last quarter.

On the strength of that work-out it would appear he is well again and able to give his rivals the horse laugh.

Building Up Tommy Farr.

THE buildup of Tommy Farr will get under way at once. Mike Jacobs will send his crack publicity unit to the firing line and in a short time will see Tommy transformed from "just another British heavyweight" into a "formidable challenger, the best British heavy to try for the title since Bob Fitzsimmons tackled Corbett forty years ago."

Not long ago we saw Jimmy Braddock transformed by the press agent's art, from a washed-up lightweight who had failed to make the title grade when at his best, into a world champion title claimant, in a bout here within the next two months.

George Zaharas squelched the British razzle from India, Nanjo Singh from Pueblo, Colo., and the complete absence, in this early part of the match, of any unnecessary movements or grimaces on the part of McMillen, emphasized his smooth performance.

Later the villain Humberto began rubbing the tape on his wrist across use it, but George shook loose. Nanjo tried to use it again. George pitched him head over heels. Then Jim would smoothly slip out of them. And often in escaping, he would get a good leverage on Humberto's legs or arms.

The complete absence, in this early part of the match, of any unnecessary movements or grimaces on the part of McMillen, emphasized his smooth performance.

George had no respect for Nanjo, who entertained hopes of taking Marshall's championship belt back to his boss, the Maharajah of Indore, was soon disillusioned. One minute and 32 seconds after Nanjo got in the ring with the towering Greek, Nanjo was flat on his back.

The other series match, the final on the program last night, attended by 3,135 persons.

Since taking out a franchise in the American League the Browns have had 13 managers not counting Sunday and pinch pilots. Having hurried the 13 mark maybe their luck will change.

In the meantime until somebody tows a wrench into that Yankee Power House the other seven clubs will continue to put up a spirited battle for second place.

Every bat carried around by that outfit is loaded with dynamite regardless of who swings it. It must be something they eat.

The Browns have signed 13 graduates from a South Bend, Ind., clinic for spring delivery. Looks like first division.

Parker showed exceptional form in the all-England championship, fighting his way to the semifinal.

See where the Little Rock Pebbles are rocking along in the S. L. with a lead of 12 or 13 games and have the other teams scratching gravel to keep within hailing distance of the procession.

The Britons have two veterans in the cup competition, Austin in the singles and Tuckey in the doubles.

Speaking of the Southern League, the Browns have recalled Infielder Lipscomb from New Orleans. Looks like first division.

The Yanks have a pitcher named Wicker. The name might suggest basketball but he seems fairly conversant with the duties of a major league pitcher. Ask the Browns, they know.

As the lineups stand, Great Britain is expected to win but one match, as Austin is granted an edge over young Parker though he's far from a cinch.

It would have been preferable, perhaps, from the British viewpoint if Austin had drawn Budge in the opening singles as Budge was a splendid player in opening Davis Cup matches. He took his first set 6-2 but was given a second set, before winning 6-4.

George Hendry, table tennis star, won his way into the junior singles semifinal by defeating Howard Rankin, 6-0, 6-1. Jimmie Johnson, Henry Teiber and Allan Carrell, all members of the St. Louis Junior Davis Cup squad, also qualified for the semifinals by winning their quarterfinal matches yesterday.

DODGERS—Winsett struck out. Phelps lined to Martin. L. Brown was safe when Gutteridge missed the winner. Leonard Hartman of New York, seeded fifth, yesterday.

The other quartet match will be at the Marquette Pool, Osage and Minnesota avenues. Instead of holding all events on one night as in previous years, the meet will be run off in two nights, with preliminaries the first night and finals the second.

On both nights, however, comedy diving and other special acts will be presented.

Entries will close at 12 o'clock noon, Tuesday, August 3. Ozark A. U. eligibility rules will cover the meet. All entrants must belong to the Municipal Athletic Association. Membership in the M. A. A. costs 25 cents.

There will be 24 events on the program, 18 for men and boys, six for women and girls. There are five divisions for the men and three for the women.

ONLY THREE ENTER PLAY FOR QUALIFYING ROUND FOR NATIONAL AMATEUR

Only three St. Louis district golfers have filed their entries for the local sectional qualifying round for the National Amateur golf championship tournament to be held at Portland, Ore., Aug. 23 to 28 inclusive. Clarence Wolff announced this morning. The low score of the three will qualify for the event.

The number of entries is the smallest ever received for this event, but the expense and time to be spent in making the long trip to Portland are good reasons for the lack of entries.

The qualifying round will be played next Tuesday morning starting at 9 o'clock, at Westwood Country Club with Joe Switzer Sunset, James Black, Normandie, and James Kearney Jr., Algonquin, competing for the honor of making the trip.

DODGERS—J. Browns threw out Bucher. Hasset lined to Pepper Martin. Manush flied to Medwick.

NINTH—CARDINALS—J. Brown singled past L. Brown. Durocher bunted for a sacrifice and was safe at first when Lavagetto to L. Brown, and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., seeded No. 7, breezed through with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Herbert L. Bowmen, New York.

Cooke meets Joseph Fishback of New York, the Eastern junior titleholder, in the quarterfinals, while McDiarmid plays Don Hawley of Orange, N. J., today. Hawley ousted Leonard Hartman of New York, seeded fifth, yesterday.

MOST VALUABLE CROP OF WHEAT SINCE 1927

U. S. Bureau Says Export Demand Will Result in Good Domestic Price.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The 1937 United States wheat crop, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said today, will be the most valuable one in 10 years.

The bureau said production would probably total about 882,000,000 bushels, of which about 175,000,000 bushels would be available for export. This surplus, it said, will furnish about one-third of the combined wheat exports from surplus producing sections.

The United States, it continued, would thus be the world's largest exporter of wheat, resuming a position it has not held for several years. Under ordinary conditions exporting of wheat would result in lower prices, the bureau said, because of a decline of the domestic price to the world level. However, world supplies are expected to be small and improved demand, it said, indicated that domestic prices were likely to average higher this year than last.

The bureau said prospective world wheat supplies for the marketing year which began July 1 were about 65,000,000 bushels below last year's figure. Production of wheat in all countries except Soviet Russia and China, it said, is expected to total 3,720,000,000 bushels, an increase of 180,000,000 bushels over last year.

Big Increase in Farm Income.
More dollars are rolling into the farmer's pockets this year than in any year since 1929. Department of Agriculture economists have calculated that the 1937 cash income of farmers will be around nine and one-half billion dollars.

This will be almost one and one-half billion more than they got in 1936 and more than twice the cash they received in 1932, when their products brought them $1,377,000,000, the smallest sum in years. During the first five months of this year, the Bureau reported total cash income, including Government payments, at $3,202,000,000, an increase of 21 per cent over the same period last year.

For the remainder of the year economists expect this rate of increase will be maintained, and in all probability, boost it a little. Farmers appear to be in a particularly advantageous position, with good demand for practically all their production and prices of some commodities showing upward tendencies.

Many experts believe the indicated corn crop of 2,771,851,000 bushels, biggest since 1932, and almost a billion bushels more than 1936, undoubtedly will force corn prices down from present levels.

On the witness stand today, Werner flatly contradicted testimony yesterday by Elmer F. Bagley, one of those who pleaded guilty. Carl P. Werner Testifies in Own Defense at Kansas City
—Two Pleaded Guilty.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 23.—Carl P. Werner, former Missouri legislator, charged with mail fraud in connection with the sale of forged Omaha municipal bonds, denied in United States District Court today ever having anything to do with the "hot" bonds.

Werner was the only one of three defendants similarly charged who chose to stand trial. Two others pleaded guilty.

On the witness stand today, Werner flatly contradicted testimony yesterday by Elmer F. Bagley, one of those who pleaded guilty. Bagley said Werner had proposed getting some "hot" bonds and having Bagley sell them. Bagley said 15 of the spurious bonds, each for $100, were obtained for $6000 and sold through a brokerage firm for about $16,000.

Werner admitted accompanying Bagley to a bank while the latter disposed of an envelope containing some "papers." Later Bagley paid off a $2700 note owed him, Werner said.

The Government rested its case yesterday.

H. Frank Ball, a former police man here, who with Bagley pleaded guilty, was the last Government witness.

Ball testified he met Werner in a saloon here in January, 1935, and that Werner asked him if he knew where there were any "hot" Liberty bonds.

A. Johnson, a United States postal inspector, testified Frank Beddoe, now serving a Federal sentence for counterfeiting, devised the alleged scheme to counterfeit the bonds. He said 101 bonds of $1000 denomination were counterfeited, each carrying interest coupons of $21.50. The true Omaha municipal bonds, Johnson said, had interest coupons for $21.25 each.

S. H. J. KATTELMAN IS SUED FOR $19,550

Trustee Seeks Money Turned Over Before Brokerage Firm Closed.

Still to recover $19,550 from the wife and mother of Harold J. Kattelman, a bankrupt installment plan
operator at Leavenworth penitentiary for mail fraud, was settled yesterday in Federal Court by the trustees for his firm, H. J. Kattelman Co.

The trustee, Morris J. Levin, said he had recently filed suit in Federal Court at Denver, Colo., to get back $30,000 from Kattelman's sister-in-law, Miss Mildred Logeman.

The $20,000 involved in the two cases is the money Kattelman turned over to his wife in June, 1935, just before his firm closed its doors after the Securities and Exchange Commission had filed suit alleging it was an insolvent book shop.

Kattelman's wife, Mrs. Gladys L.

Kattelman, testified in Federal Court last year her husband had given her the money, in currency, because he owed $42,000 to her and to his sister, Mildred. She said

Kattelman's mother, Mrs. Tirzah

Jan Kattelman, was keeping some of the money for her, and she had given $20,000 to her sister, who had invented her share "through a friend in Colorado."

Levin said $16,500 of the money
Miss Mildred Logeman had "invested through a friend Colorado" had been impounded by the Federal Court at Denver, pending determination of the suit he has filed there against Miss Logeman.

Kattelman went to the penitentiary

owing $355,489 to more than

There has been no

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always stand at the demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Thoughts on Picketing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I HAVE been watching and listening to the union pickets at the Lynn Meal Co., at Sixth street and Lucas avenue for many months and I have never ceased to marvel at the policies of the labor union. I am not prejudiced against unions. In fact, I rather favor them on the general principle of sympathy for the under-dog, although I recognize that they are not more thoughtful of the consumer's welfare than are their masters of the capitalistic system.

But what puzzles me most is to see the pickets at Lynn's continue month after month obstructing the sidewalk and throwing out invectives against the company without any damaging effect. Indeed, I am convinced that they do as much as could well be done to make the unions unpopular.

Lynn's seems to be the most crowded place in that shopping district. Is it possible that the company has an understanding with the union and employs these pickets as a new kind of Barker? Or, if that is a so-far-fetched explanation of their continuance, do the pickets draw wages from their union and thus sacrifice the popularity of their union rather than their own?

I must confess that the solution of the question is beyond me without help from someone who knows. I have seen unions do some stupid things, but this is the least intelligent that I have observed for a long time.

I should like to suggest a better plan for the union to use in turning the pursuers away from Lynn's. I suppose it must be quite clear how all of the meat and produce stores are holding their staff at such high paces that people buy as little as they can, with the result that the goods often grow stale or partially decay, whereupon they are sold at about the price they should command in the first instance. I have even observed one store keeping up the price of eggs at an abnormally high figure by using the inferior surplus in cakes—a luxury—which they sell at the rate of some 5000 pounds a week.

Here is a splendid opportunity for the labor union. Let it open a store in the immediate neighborhood and sell meat and produce and staple groceries at reasonable prices. The union has enough members that by their purchases alone it could guarantee the success of the store. By providing this public convenience and by lowering prices to the general public, the union would gain friends by service that it now loses by vituperation and blocking of the public passageways. It would then be fighting for its own cause by fighting for the public welfare, instead of merely seeking its own interests at the expense of the public interest—for the people are going to buy where they can get the best values.

I wonder why the union has not seized upon this opportunity to ingratiate itself with the public, while at the same time putting its enemy. Is it possible that the union is not really interested in serving the public, but would prefer to co-operate with the commercial stores in exploiting this same public, if only the stores would co-operate with the union by employing union men?

An Aldermanic Junct.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE St. Louis Realtor, official publication of the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange, recently carried an article setting out a resolution introduced at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen held on June 4, to the effect that the Traffic and Traffic Regulations Committee, being in grave doubt as to what recommendations it should make to curb reckless driving, and being determined to make an extensive study of traffic conditions, and believing that much may be learned by observation in other cities, the committee has decided to visit Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Chicago and make recommendations as to its findings; expenses not to exceed $2000.

From the foregoing, it would appear as though these Aldermen are taking their usual vacation at the city's expense, notwithstanding the deficit about which we have been hearing. WATCHER.

Mr. Milles' Humor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE Post-Dispatch has again contrived to execute a particularly apt and timely piece of pinch-hitting. I refer to the publication of the photographs of the Miles fountain figures, which is one of the better ways of shedding light on the controversy which has been raging.

Apart from the general high level of the inspiration and execution of the figures, two impressions are particularly strong, which should allay the fears of the over-sensitive. Suggestiveness, indelicacy are incompatible with humor—and the drollery in some of the figures is delightful. Secondly, the fresh virility and appealing frankness stamped on the features of the naiads and river gods cannot possibly be seen as other than honest and ingenuous.

LADISLAV NAGY.

A GREAT VICTORY AND ITS AFTERMATH.

The unprecedented attack of President Roosevelt on the integrity of the Supreme Court has been turned back. At the hands of his own party, Mr. Roosevelt has suffered a crushing defeat.

The Senate Judiciary Committee described the court reorganization scheme as "a measure which should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free people of America."

Rejection has been of this heartening character. The collapse of the effort to control the decisions of the Supreme Court in the interest of particular legislation is complete. The record of the last five and a half months, with its story of the brave revolt of a group of Democratic Senators and the rallying of public opinion to their banner, will be a powerful warning to any executive of the future who may contemplate a raid on the courts.

It will stand as a great day in the history of the Republic—that on which Mr. Roosevelt's revolutionary adventure came to an end with unconditional surrender to the opposition.

Gratification over the outcome is heightened by the disposition of the victors not to press their advantage meanly. There are parts of the reorganization bill that are worthy of serious consideration. It seems likely, now that the effort to pack the Supreme Court has been definitely beaten, that the Senate Judiciary Committee will address itself calmly to the task of rewriting the bill and will bring out a reform measure on which the lately embattled factions in the Senate can unite.

Senator Wheeler has well stated the general formula that should rule the committee's reconsideration of the subject. There must be nothing in the revised bill that looks in any way to political control of the courts, high or low. But steps—further to quote Senator Wheeler—might well be taken to expedite the decisions of the lower courts, to correct abuses in injunction matters, to speed up appeals to the Supreme Court on constitutional questions and to prevent "racketeering" in receiverships.

We agree with Senator Wheeler in the opposition that he, with many other thoughtful students of judicial reform, has expressed to the "roving Judge" provisions of the pending bill—provisions which would give the Chief Justice virtually unlimited power to move Circuit and District Judges about the country—and we can see no need for the proposed appointment of a "proctor" by the Supreme Court. The duties that would be given to this new official—to look into the status of litigation in Federal courts throughout the country, study the need of assigning Judges to other courts, etc.—are already being performed by the Attorney-General and the Conference of Senior Circuit Judges, which meets once a year under the chairmanship of the Chief Justice. A few simple amendments to the judicial code would effect whatever improvements in this system may be needed.

Senator Wheeler has said that the appointment of a "proctor" would open up so great a possibility of abuses that the opposition to the packing bill "will not stand for it."

While the opposition is against the "roving Judge" and the "proctor" provisions, while it stands unashamedly opposed to any increase in the number of Federal Judges based on age or political considerations, it is ready to provide for the lower courts "whatever number of additional Judges the administration may want on the basis of need, whether that number be 20 or 50."

The second half of 1937 started out auspiciously as far as the lynching record is concerned. One hundred armed men who marched to the jail at Athens, Tex., to lynch a Negro boy were surprised when Sheriff Jess Sweeten met them with these words: "Boys, I've taken an oath to protect my prisoner. I'm going to do it. If you get rough, I'm going to get rough." The Sheriff was on duty alone, but the mob went away.

The officer on duty Tuesday morning at the City-County Jail at Tallahassee, capital of Florida, was of different mettle. The mob got its quarry, two Negro youths, only one of whom was charged with stabbing an officer, and lynched them three miles from the Capitol.

Gov. Cone says: "I'm going to do everything I can to get whoever did this. This looks like a lot of carelessness by somebody." Those are brave words, but if developments run true to form for the Deep South, nobody will be convicted of the lynching and nobody will lose his job at the jail.

Two remedies are needed. One is officers with enough blunt courage to show up a mob. The other is enactment of the pending anti-lynching bill by Congress. By such incidents as at Tallahassee, the South invites enactment of the anti-lynching bill, and makes it impossible for responsible citizens anywhere to condone a filibuster against it.

Alas for Jim Ham Lewis! Faded the once pink whiskers, and completely gone the punch.

"Victoria Regina," the delightful play which closed only a month ago after an 18-month run on Broadway, has at last been permitted to be acted at a public theater in London. During Gov. Stark's absence on a trip to Alaska, his fellow-members of the Board of Fund Commissioners have pulled off a most peculiar transaction. They have sold $3,000,000 of State building bonds to a Kansas City investment firm—Baum, Bernheimer & Co.—without asking for competitive bids. Since Gov. Stark is opposed to the sale of public securities without giving all comers a chance to bid on them, it looks as if his colleagues—State Auditor Smith, Lieutenant-Governor Harris, State Treasurer Winn and Attorney-General McKittrick—have taken advantage of the Governor's absence.

Just why the play was so long banned in England is hard to see. If produced with the high standards and good taste observed by the production in New York, it will honor rather than detract from the memory of Victoria and Albert.

Robustious with the vigor of pioneers, weighted with the grief of tragedy, breathing the stimulus of new invention, drenched under floods, animated by political discussion—Alton, since the granting of her municipal charter in 1837, has tasted more of emotion and experience than most cities of her size.

Within her 100 years, she has seen the story of Lovejoy's martyrdom written in blood and tears upon her levee. Lincoln and Douglas there lifted voices in historic debate. From her streets, an early prototype of the automobile wheezed forth, only to collapse into abandonment after a few miles; and the comfort of sleeping cars was first materialized by one of her inventive geniuses. Colleges have flourished, industry has burgeoned, since those early days when Rufus Easton of St. Louis platted the village and Benjamin Godfrey began to rear structures of native limestone upon its mud flats.

We trust Gov. Stark, on his return, will give the seal to Baum, Bernheimer & Co. his most searching attention.

SEQUEL TO THE WHITEWASH VERDICT.

In Chicago last Tuesday, a Coroner's jury rendered the expected whitewash verdict of "justifiable homicide" in connection with the Memorial day massacre, when Chicago police fired point-blank into a crowd of steel strikers and their sympathizers, killing 10 and wounding many others. The whole tone of the proceedings before the Coroner's jury was so obviously prejudiced that union leaders declined to present testimony, on the ground that it was useless.

Now comes the report of the La Follette Civil Liberties Committee, which held extensive hearings on the massacre, holding that the police used "excessive force" and exhibited "the most careless indifference to human life and suffering." The police attack came "without warning," and there was no provocation for the attack except abusive language on the part of the strikers and the throwing of isolated missiles from the rear ranks of the marchers. The firing continued while the marchers were in retreat, and no attempt was made to render first aid to the wounded and dying.

What was the purpose of the marchers? The report shows that they were advancing, not to enter the plant, which contained great numbers of non-strikers armed with hatchet handles, but to exercise the right of peaceful picketing. Evidence of collusion between the Republic Steel Corporation and the police was police possession of the same kind of hatchet handles found in the plant, and the use of tear gas not owned by the Police Department. The Republic steel plant had purchased a consignment of gas bombs shortly before the massacre.

In an effort to show that the police were in danger from the crowd, a trunkful of missiles of various kinds was shown the committee, as having been dropped by the retreating marchers. However, the fact was not established. The field had been used as a dump by the steel company and it was impossible to determine whether the missiles collected by the police were actually dropped by the strikers. One witness who lives nearby testified that he saw a policeman pick up a milk bottle he had used to water his garden and some sticks he had gathered for mattock vines, evidently to add to the "evidence."

The findings of the La Follette committee, enforced by photographs, the tell-tale newsreel and the testimony of police as well as strikers, confirm the general conviction that the Memorial day massacre was one of the brutal affairs in the history of American labor disputes. And there is not enough whitewash in the world to make it appear otherwise.

A Lawyer on the Labor Act Decision

Supreme Court's approval of Wagner Act has been criticised as going far beyond intent of framers of Constitution; St. Louis attorney cites debates in convention of 1787 to uphold his view that Judges made "conservative and logical" application of commerce clause; describes origin of provision and early interpretations.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHEN the Supreme Court sustained the National Labor Relations (Wagner) Act as a proper exercise of Federal power under the commerce clause of the Constitution, it held, in brief, that manufacturing is the subject of Federal power when a substantial part of its raw materials as well as its finished products are the subject of interstate shipments—a position somewhat in conflict with former decisions.

When the commerce clause first came before the Supreme Court, the point at issue was not what was meant by commerce among the states, but what was the extent of Federal power over such commerce. It was conceded that state power was concurrent and continued until Federal power was exercised. Had the court been called upon to consider specifically the question as to what was commerce among the states in a case where questions of broad general welfare were presented, it is not unlikely that a still more liberal definition might have been given.

Government, to define those powers in brief, concise clauses. This phraseology was adopted by the committee without debate, and as Mr. Randolph was a member, it seems reasonable to conclude that it was the opinion of the committee that this clause expressed the broad purpose outlined in his resolution.

HAS been obvious that, in this long phase of the struggle over the judiciary bill, the only concern of the President's supporters has been to maintain his power. They have long since ceased to think about the commerce clause and due process and 5-to-4 decisions. For on all the main points the Supreme Court has overruled itself and removed the substantial causes of complaint.

Taking into consideration the arguments of the ablest and sincerest advocates of the bill, it could have been withdrawn by the President when the Supreme Court adjourned, and he could very plausibly have claimed a great moral victory.

Since that time, insistence on the bill has made no sense, except in the hypothesis that the President meant to prove to the country that he can have whatever he wants whenever he wants it.

This is what his friends have in mind when they talk about "presage." The great majority of them in Congress became persuaded that if they did not enact the bill, Mr. Roosevelt's reputation would be so damaged that the remainder of his term would be like that of the last year of Wilson and of Hoover.

As patriots, and also as patriots, they felt it their duty to avert such a catastrophe.

But there were also a minority, more royalist than the zealots, who have wanted to force the decision, believing that if Mr. Roosevelt overruled Congress on this issue with such formidable opposition, his personal power would thereafter be irresistible.

The truth is that Mr. Roosevelt's prestige is involved only in so far as he chooses to get it involved. The President of the United States, unlike the Prime Minister under parliamentary government, does not reign when one of his important measures is defeated. He carries on. He retains all his powers under the law, and though his influence may be reduced, it is not destroyed, and can be revived.

Even Mr. Hoover, after the devastating defeat he had suffered in his first Congress, was no means down and out, and for a brief period in the summer of 1933 might very readily have re-established his influence had he dared to meet the necessities of the crisis.

The fact of the matter is that any

HISTORICAL PARADE DAY

35,000 Persons View Motorboat Regatta and Airplane Formation Flight.

A parade depicting the history of Alton during the last 100 years will be held over a three-mile route at 5 o'clock this afternoon, the final event of the city's charter centennial celebration.

The first of more than 30 floats in the procession will honor the memory of John M. Krum, first Mayor of Alton and later head of the St. Louis city government, and the last will illustrate the building of the Alton lock and dam on the Mississippi River. Other subjects will include an Indian trading post, early agriculture, the Lincoln-Douglas debates and the Mississippi floods.

A crowd of about 35,000 persons watched a motorboat regatta on the river and a demonstration of airplane formation flight last night. Six planes of the Missouri National Guard flew over the city while a battery of anti-aircraft searchlights was played on them by Illinois National Guardsmen stationed on the river's edge.

Both Charges for Services and Wages of Operators Will Be Higher.

The executive board of the newly organized United Beauticians' Local Industrial Union No. 367, a CIO affiliate, will meet tonight to fix a date when a general increase in beauty shop prices and wages of operators will be put in effect.

Frank J. Vanek, 3222A Oregon avenue, president of the union, said the price increase would average about 33 1/3 per cent and the minimum wage for experienced operators would be $14.50 a week.

Vanek said a few shops already had increased prices. He said about 250 shops of about 1400 in the city had signed up with the union. About half the beauty establishments are conducted in the homes of operators. Tonight's meeting will be in the home of Miss Jennie Spindler, 4374 Laclede avenue, a board member.

EAST ST. LOUIS SCHOOL
BUDGET INCREASED $45,985

Action by Board of Education Indicates Four-Cent Rise in Tax Rate.

The East St. Louis Board of Education announced a planned increase in its expenditures for the school year 1937-38 of $45,985 last night when it adopted an annual budget of $1,414,485. The budget for the previous year was $1,368,500.

On the basis of these figures, it is estimated that the tax rate for the coming year will be $2.44, an increase of four cents over last year. The entire budgetary increase is confined to the educational fund, which was set at $1,324,485. As a year ago, the building fund was set at $282,000.

Almost all of the increase is caused by the adoption of a schedule of fixed salary advances for all of the 465 teachers in East St. Louis. This becomes effective Sept. 1. Other school employees will receive a 5 per cent salary increase Aug. 1.

SUPPORT TO STOCK LIST BY UTILITIES LATE IN DAY

Motors and Steels Lead a Sharp Opening Rise but Trading Slows Down and Profit Taking Cut Down Prices.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Utilities, in addition to a few other widely scattered issues, provided the supporting base for today's stock market.

The list got off at a fast upward clip with motors and steels in the lead. The rush slowed down almost as quickly as it began and initial gains of fractions to 2 points were reduced or replaced with losses in many instances.

Traders thought bellying of the administration's cost bill, likelihood of nearby adjournment of Congress, and the continued flow of favorable earnings statements may have been discounted to some extent.

The stock market was at a standstill. Transfers were around 900,000 shares.

Bonds and commodities were about as uneven as stocks. Wheat at Chicago advanced 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents a bushel. Corn was 4 1/2 cents down to 1 1/2. Hog prices at Chicago hit the $36 level for the first time since 1923.

Automobile issues inclined to back away as motor car production this week dropped sharply. The recession was due principally to the fact Ford is shut down until Aug. 9.

How Shares Moved.

Although freight loadings for last week moved up above the 770,000 mark, the increase was less than seasonal. Rail shares, ahead for a time, slipped. Reliant, though, were Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, and Southern Railway.

Pointing higher in the greater part of the session were Consolidated Edison, North American, Electric Power & Light, Standard Gas, American & Foreign Power, American Water Works, American Tobacco, "B" Anheuser-Busch, American Locomotive, Loewy-Brown-McMullan, Transco, John Wanamaker, Cerveza Pasco, Kennebec, Bethlehem Steel, Standard Oil, Phillips Petroleum, and Gen. Electric.

Westinghouse dumped some 4 points at the best session, a plan for splitting up the stock is being considered.

Virtually even to off a point or so were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Yellow Truck, Motor Products, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Santa Fe, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck and American Smelting.

late improvement was recorded for Commonwealth & Southern preferred and El Paso Natural Gas.

Ad mid-afternoon sterling was down 1% of a cent at 94.97% and the French franc was off .00% of a cent at 73.43 cents.

Cotton futures broke $1.55 to $1.80 a bale.

News of the Day.

Sloss-Steelfield tumbled 12 points at one time following announcement the company's six-months' profits amounted to $3.79 a share. The stock came back in the latter part of the session.

Tidewater Oil, with a net of 60 cents in the second quarter compared with 29 cents in the similar 1936 period, was lively on the gains end.

Better action in some coppers was in line with the improved statistical position of this industry. Refined stocks at the end of June were down to 11,000 tons from 161,000 at the start of the year. Buying of these metals, although slack at present, was expected in the trade to pick up by the end of August or early September.

Weekly Commodity Review.

An aid to the stock buying side was the week-end review of Dues & Standard disclosing a further increase in public spending. Most merchandising divisions, it was said, moved toward and signs of the end of summer slackness were more definite.

The survey placed retail sales for the country as a whole at from 2 to 6 per cent ahead of the preceding week and 8 to 20 per cent above the same period last year.

Much interest was exhibited in the Treasury's statement showing a decrease in gold holdings of $19,800,000 as of July 20, the largest since dollar revaluation. The loss was believed due principally to the workings of the tripartite monetary agreement.

Day's 15 Most Active Stocks.

Sales, closing price and net change of the 15 most active stocks: Tide Wat. Ass., 22,000, 19%, up 1%; Comwth. & Sou., 18,800, 3, up 1%; Republic Steel, 18,700, 33%, down 1%; Socorro-Vac., 21, 21%, up 1%; Elec. Pow. and Lt. 16,200, 22%, up 1%; U. S. Steel, 15,600, 11%, down 1%; Chrysler, 4,000, 112%, down 1%; Columbia G. & El. 13,500, 14, up 1%; North Amer. 12,000, 27%, up 1%; Pure Oil 11,800, 21, down 1%; Am. Wat. Wks. 10,500, 20%, up 1%; Param. Pict. 10,500, 23%, down 1%; Goodyear T. & R. 9,000, 41%, up 1%; Gen. Mot. 8,900, 56%, unchanged; Anaconda, 8,700, 56%, down 1%.

MINE WORKERS' BOARD REFERS
GREEN CHARGE TO CONVENTION

Says Trial at General Meeting "Will Eliminate Any Thought of Prejudice."

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The United Mine Workers International Board referred today to the union's next convention a charge that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was guilty of "treason" against the U. M. W.

A trial before the convention, the board said, "will eliminate any thought of prejudice" against Green, who is accused because he helped the A. F. of L. to fight the Committee for Industrial Organization, headed by John L. Lewis, U.
M. W. president. Green has been a member of the mine union since it was organized in 1890.

The board, in explaining its decision, recalled that Green had refused last November to appear before the board to answer the treason charge. At that time the board ordered Green to "cease and desist" from engaging what it called
"traitorous" practices.

The union's next convention is scheduled for January, 1938.

The board made public a copy of a charge filed against Green by the Danville (Ill.) local, saying that Green had violated section 7, article 18, of the U. M. W. constitution in agreeing to give an A. F.
of L. charter to the Progressive Miners of America, rival to the U.
M. W. in Illinois.

Deputies Raze Transients' Shacks.
LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Deputy Sheriffs yesterday raided hobo
"jungle camps" near Los Angeles, destroying packing-box shelters of the inhabitants. Inspector John V.
Henry estimated some 500 transients thus were left homeless. Several were arrested on vagrancy charges and two were held for immigration officials.

ST. LOUIS, FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1937.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By BOB BURNS

NO MATTER how much money a father has, he should make his boy go out and work once in a while just to learn the value of money. I knew a man down home who owned a shoe factory and made a lot of money, but he never made his son work a day in his life and always gave him all the spending money he wanted. Finally durin' the big financial crash the father lost his shoe factory and his money, too, and had to go back to half-soling shoes at eighty cents a pair. One day the boy walked into his father's cobbler shop and says, "Dad, give me $4.00; I've got a date tonight." The old man says, "Son, do you know I have ta half sole five pairs of shoes to get $4?" The son says, "Well, I'll wait—go ahead and half-sole 'em, but make it snappy!"

AERIAL VIEWS OF NEW EXPRESS HIGHWAY

Extreme lower left is the entrance spur at Gratiot street and Vandeventer avenue. To its right is the exit spur. Between them is the extension under construction, to cross over Vandeventer avenue and connect with the Chouteau avenue viaduct (right). Most eastbound traffic makes a left turn from the three lanes of the exit spur north into Vandeventer under protection of an automatic signal.

Curves of the newly opened eastern section of the $3,000,000 Express Highway, which Mayor Dickmann has likened to a roller coaster, carry the route over the most economical right-of-way, as indicated in this view east from Forest Park. Crossings of the highway from foreground are: Jefferson drive, Kingshighway, a pedestrian bridge to reach private property, West Papin street, Taylor avenue, Newstead avenue, Tower Grove avenue and Boyle avenue.

GIRAFFE GAZELLE DISPLAYED AT ZOO

Good Card Reading

By Ely Culbertson

EAR MR. CULBERTSON: A hand last week in a local tournament is the most interesting hand I have seen in a long time, and I am hopeful that you will enjoy it.

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

"West opens the spade deuce. If dummy plays spade five, East plays the seven; if dummy (as I did) plays the 10, East, of course, covers with the jack. From here on the play is interesting. East's double of the small slam contract is evidence that trumps probably are divided adversely 4-3. If all five hearts are in one hand, the contract cannot be made.

"After winning the first trick with the spade king, South leads a diamond, winning with dummy's ace. A small diamond is ruffed. The club nine that is led and won with dummy's jack. A small diamond is ruffed and the play to date, indicates a possible 4-3-3 distribution in East's hand. The club king is led and dummy over-takes with ace. The club queen then is led, South discarding his losing spade. The spade ace wins the next trick and we find this ending:

"A spade, club or diamond lead from dummy at trick nine assures South of 12 tricks, and his doubled contract of six hearts is made! South ruffs and leads a heart to the king, dropping West's 10 en route. If East wins, he must return a heart from the 9-6-3 to declarer's tenace of Q J 8. If East overruffs, he must play a trump at the next trick, and declarer has only to top whatever trump he plays.

"It will be noted that the contract is quite simple if, at trick one, dummy plays a small spade and West obliges by playing the spade jack. Hearts then can be led at trick two, declarer's trump suit shortened to East's length by ruffing. But without the second spade entry to dummy I believe the contract can be made only as I have described. Trumps cannot be led until trick 10.

"Yours very truly,
G. H. A., Seattle, Wash."

I agree with my co-respondent that the hand is a pretty one. It is, of course, a member of the grand coup family, the exceptional point of interest being that trumps are not touched until declarer has shortened himself to the same length as the right hand defender. The analysis is so clear that there is nothing that I need add except to congratulate declarer for flawlessly card reading.

Don't Let Dog Lick Your Face

By Albert Payson Terhune

S. A. Richmond, Va., writes to beg my opinion on a state of affairs in his home which he says disgusts him. That same state of affairs would disgust me, too; and it would have the same effect on any sane dog-owner. Because the condition, in greater or less degree, is too prevalent. I am going to quote part of S. A.'s letter. He writes:

"My wife and a woman relative allow their pet dogs. They insist on allowing these dogs to lick their faces and sit with them and on the same pillows with them and to eat ice cream out of the same container with them. I believe you could help these women and perhaps thousands of other people, if you would issue a forcible hygienic warning."

I am only too glad to do so. And any physician will back up what I shall say.

It is unsafe to allow a dog to lick your face. It is far more unsafe to eat with it out of the same dish. A dog's head has no place on your pillow. The whole proceeding is unsanitary and harmful. Moreover, it degrades normal canine chumship into abnormal sloppiness, and it makes both you and your dog nauseatingly ridiculous in the eyes of sensible people.

Primary Rules For Mannerly Young People

Propriety of an All-Day Motor Trip Without a Chaperon.

By Emily Post

1. Do you see any impropriety in three young girls not yet 19 and three young men not more than 21 going away on an all-day motor trip without a chaperon?

Answer: There is no impropriety in their going for the day, but certainly they should be back that same evening.

2. I just graduated from high school last month and am going to college in the fall, "way down South." My best boy friend graduated last year from college and is working in the Far West. Because it will not be possible for us to see each other next year, his parents have invited me to drive West with them to visit him. I know that this trip is being made at great personal sacrifice to them and I do not want to burden them with my expenses, too. Mother is away now and I am to tell them yes or no just as soon as she returns next week. Meanwhile, will you write me how I can go about offering to pay my own share of the expenses without embarrassing my friend's father?

Answer: The best way to go about it would be to talk frankly with his mother, because it would be a perfectly natural thing to make such an arrangement with another woman. On the other hand, to approach the father would make the situation impossible, since no man would willingly take money from a woman, especially from one young enough to be his daughter. Of course, unless the wife agrees to the fairness of letting you pay your share, there is nothing further that you can do about it.

3. A college friend of mine has invited me to be one of a house party which she is giving at X Beach, where her family has a house for the summer. Her fiance lives near me and, of course, is going to this same party. Just now he stopped by to suggest that I drive with him. The distance is about 150 miles. I told him I'd let him know soon and made some weak excuse for wanting time to answer. But the fairness of letting you pay your share, there is nothing further that you can do about it.

N. Y. Burlesque
Girls Working
In New RevuesCarefully Censored Shows So Harmless They Do Not Attract Customers.

By Alice Hughes

NEW YORK, July 23.
N.Y.'s current purity wave in the entertainment field has just about completed its present cycle. As I've said here before, one of these clean-up manias strikes the town every few years, the latest thing to fall under the ban being the foul and undressed exhibitions called burlesque.

Fourteen of these theaters were deprived of their licenses, throwing several hundred chorus girls out of their $20-a-week jobs. Most of the poor kids were utterly without dancing talent, and their jobs consisted chiefly of walking around with practically no clothes on. Now a couple of hundred have gone back to work in a carefully laundered and fumigated type of revue entertainment in several of the old burlesque theaters, though that horrid word "burlesque" has been utterly banished from use.

The new shows are so harmless they will not attract the former audiences, and the girls practically wear Mother Hubbard. Moreover the jokes are even older. Overseeing them to keep them chemically pure is a huge gang of censors, both officials and volunteer. I am sure you will be glad to know that Broadway is now painfully clean—and especially that so many of these girls have got their miserable jobs back. The general opinion seems to be that we are much better off without burlesque, but have gained practically nothing with this weird, new type of entertainment—at $5 top.

When we want to see the smartest thing in spectator sports clothes in the heart of summer, we go over to the platinum belt of Long Island and see at the high society gals who are watching the young millionaires play polo. Linens are still a dominant feature of the polo sides.

Stepping out of my class as a slaving reporter the other afternoon, I gazed at the handsome young centaurs and at the pretty girls looking on. The neatest outfit I saw was worn by Mrs. Raymond Guest, wife of one of the players, who sported a navy-and-white scroll pattern linen dress with short puffed sleeves.

PASTE ON OIL CLOTH

Paste oil cloth on your closet or pantry shelves. Spread the cloth generously with paste and quickly press it on the shelves. Then cover it with weights. (Books make practical weights for the purpose.) When the oil cloth has dried thoroughly the shelves may be washed and the cloth will never roll up.

Tiny Insects
Beneath Skin
Cause Scabies

Application of Sulphur Ointment Will End Annoying Itch.

By
Logan Clendening, M. D.

On June 20, 250 years ago, an Italian named Cosimo Bonomo discovered that the cause of the common itchy eruption of the skin was due to a small spider-like insect, the parasite of scabies. This discovery was of an importance far transcending its intrinsic value, because for the first time it was proved that a human disease was due to entrance into the body of something from the external world.

The ideas that were prevalent at that time were that disease was due to changes in the chemistry of the blood or to the dislocation of the theoretical four humours of the body. That an insect, or plant, or poison from outside could enter into the body and make changes was, curiously enough, never given serious consideration. And, indeed, it was not until much later—in 1834—that Bonomo's idea gained any wide popularity.

This was when Renucci, a medical student in Paris, showed the great professor of skin diseases there what he had learned from the old market women in his native Corsica. Renucci remembered seeing these old women pick the itchy places on their fingers with a needle until they extracted a small, wriggling insect, and when he saw the same disease in the clinic, he demonstrated to the professor that it was a scabies insect which caused the eruption.

Scabies, or the itch, is supposed to be a disease of filth and poverty, but it frequently appears among those who are known as the upper classes. It occurs most frequently in the thin skin between the fingers, although it may appear on any part of the body. I have known of cases that were treated for all manner of internal disorders for many weeks before the actual nature of the eruption was recognized. It was thought that because the patient was a member of the well-to-do classes in high society that it was impossible for the itch to attack him. The application of sulphur ointment in a few days ended not only the annoying itching and the eruption, but also the idea that it was due to allergy, or hypersensitivity, or eczema.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS.

In answer to a question, Pablum is a delicious cereal for infants in the summer time. It consists of wheatmeal, oatmeal, cornmeal, wheat embryo, beef bone, brewer's yeast, alfalfa leaf, iron, salt, and supplies vitamins E, B and G, and calcium and phosphorus, iron, copper and other minerals. By adding water, cream or milk at any temperature, it is ready to serve.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a 3-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

AN UNHAPPY OUTLOOK

If one of your windows has an outlook that is unpleasant or dreary, have a window box built for it and as early as possible grow some bright geraniums or chrysanthemums in it. You will not even see the view over the warm months and in winter, attractive curtains and draperies can shut out the dreariness.

STILL HOPEFUL.

Your crowd of girls and perhaps some of the boys they know ought to be able and willing to teach you. I do not know of course you take, either by mail or through any book. If someone else does, I should like to know of course, so watch the column and you get the information you want from one of my readers.

Dear Martha Carr:

NOTICED in your column recently a letter from a girl of 16, disappointed with life. Tell her to come to the Idle Hour Club, Wednesday and Sunday nights, at Liederkrantz Hall, Grand and Flad. She will get acquainted with a nice class of good people. Tell her to meet me as a mother.

MRS. M.

I have a number of other offers of kittens, too many to print in the column, but the names and addresses of owners will be sent to those wanting kittens on receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

YOU TELL 'EM, MURLEY.

(Lamar (Mo.) Democrat)
Jack Pearson—you have challenged the State in your weight and that is all right for you are a good little old man. But when you made the statement that you can throw any man in Lamar 10 times in one hour, I believe you spoke before you thought. I have failed in my time. I have been in poor health, but at present I am feeling good and in need of some exercise. I will meet you anywhere at any time. But I want to understand that the winner takes all of the gate receipts. Now if you want to meet me don't go any further. Set the place and time.

Signed, Murley Parker.

TAX CASE NO. 3235.

One of the most interesting cases in the Secret Treasury Files made public a few minutes ago concerns B. Bottleneck Haversack, reputed millionaire palmist operating in Atlanta City, with branches in Reno and Highland, Okla. The Government contends that Haversack might just as well have paid 342,866 palms last year, which, at a charge of 50 cents each, would have placed him in an enviable position in the higher income brackets. However, Haversack resorted to technically legal but morally inexcusable tactics. Instead of attending to business, he read "Gone With the Wind" instead of palms, thus cutting down his income to a point beneath which polite people, as well as Treasury investigators, refuse to stoop. As a result, the Government got nothing, and Haversack got on relief.

FOUR SCOTTSBORO NEGROES FREED; TWO SENTENCED

Docket Cleared After Weems Is Convicted and Powell Pleads Guilty of Attack on Officer.

FORMER GETS 75 YEARS; LATTER, 20

Prosecution Says It Doubts Guilt of Two of Defendants — Other Two Released Were Juveniles.

By the Associated Press.

DECATUR, Ala., July 24. Four of the nine Negro defendants in the Scottsboro assault cases were freed today shortly after a jury had convicted Charlie Weems, one of the nine, fixing his sentence at 75 years.

Freeing of the four by the State cleared the case from the Morgan County Court docket.

A few minutes earlier, Ozie Powell, another of the nine who was shot in an alleged attempt to escape last year, pleaded guilty to assault with intent to murder and received a 20-year sentence. An officer was stabbed just before Powell was shot in 1936.

Assault charges against Powell were dropped as they were against the four who were freed.

The jury deliberated 20 hours in the Weems case.

First Under Sentence.

Today's development left five of the Negroes under sentence. Clarence Norris was sentenced to death. Haywood Patterson to 75 years in prison, and Andy Wright to 99 years.

The four who were freed were to be turned over to their attorney. Samuel S. Leibowitz, this afternoon. They are Olen Montgomery, Willie Roberson, Eugene Williams, and Roy Wright. Williams and Roy Wright were adjudged juveniles at the time of the attack six years ago.

The prosecution in a statement said it believed the defendants who had been tried were guilty but that Roberson and Montgomery were not.

When Judge W. W. Callahan called Weems to the bar for sentence, the court room was virtually empty. Leibowitz moved to arrest judgment on the ground the court was without jurisdiction. Callahan overruled the motion.

Weems said: "I didn't get a fair trial. I didn't get justice."

There was no demonstration in the court room when Assistant Attorney-General Thomas S. Lawson arose to announce the four cases had been dropped. Leibowitz made no statement.

A usually reliable source said "this ends the Scottsboro case." This source forecast clemency would be extended to Norris and appeals in the other cases would be dropped.

Case Carried to U. S. Courts.

The case has been fought through State and Federal courts since the Negroes were taken from a freight train at Paint Rock, Ala., March 25, 1931, and charged with attacking two white women, Mrs. Victoria Price and Ruby Bates.

Twice the United States Supreme Court has reversed convictions carrying death sentences in the case. Leibowitz has announced he would appeal the Norris case to the Supreme Court if necessary.

The 12 white men trying Weems heard charges of "sanctimonious hypocrisy" and "perjury" made by the defense and answered by the State with counter-accusations of "headline-seeking" before the case was given to them.

The jurors were asked by the State to return a verdict of life imprisonment.

Leibowitz told the jury: "I don't expect an acquittal. I don't expect a low term of years." If Melvin H. Holt (local solicitor) will ask for 50 years, the verdict will be 99 or some think like that. I'm sick and tired of this sanctimonious hypocrisy. It isn't Charlie Weems on trial in this case, it's the State of New York. Put on trial by Mr. Bailey (Solicitor H. G. Bailey of Bala, Ala.).

Holt, in his turn, said: "If he (Leibowitz) hasn't premeditatedly tried to convict that Negro for publicity purposes, then I don't know what I'm talking about."
